Prefatory Notes

The following is data collected as a result of a search for the descendants of Aaron Starks, the primary interest of this compiler. The data relating to Archibald and James Stark, and of Benjamin Page Grandfather of Elizabeth Page, the wife of General John Stark of Revolutionary War fame, was recorded, hopefully to be of help to others.

The three families are peripheral lines to the descendants of Aaron Starks, ca. 1608.

This compiler has not verified any data contained herein, but has only recorded that which was found.

The spelling "STARK" is used although frequently Starke and Starks are found in several of the families. This author uses the spelling "STARKS" for the descendants of Aaron Starks, ca. 1608.

No relationship between the families of Archibald and James Stark, and those of Aaron Stark(s) has been established nor is inferred.

CHAPTER I

Richard Stark's Family

Prepared by: Rodney Gordon Schroeder

1. Richard[1] Stark[1]. Born, 1665, in Killermont, Glasgow, Scotland[2]. Died, circa 1713, in York, York Co, VA. Occupation: Physician. The early homes of the Stark family were for serveral centuries, in Lancaster,England and Killermont, Scotland. Later in Surrrey England. One of the early Stark's was born circa 1604 on the Killermont Estate on the Clyde River, Scotland. In 1635 he was a zealous Covenanter and was known as the Bishop of Glasgow. His Grandson was Richard, born in 1665, who, by tradition in turn had three sons: Archibald, James and Richard. James and Richard removed to America first, and settled in Londonderry, NH. Archibald came later with his wife Eleanor. Note however there is little proof of these father/son relationships. It is shown here only to report that such is found in the literature.

CHAPTER II

THE DESCENDANTS OF ARCHIBALD STARK

Prepared by: Rodney Gordon Schroeder

FIRST GENERATION

1. Archibald[1] Stark[1], son of Richard Stark and Rebecca (Unkn). Born, 1693, in Killermont, Glasgow, Scotland[2]. Died, 22 Jun 1758, in Derryfield, Hillsboro Co, NH. Burial in Derryfield, Hillsboro Co, NH[3]. Black in his 'SURNAMES OF SCOTLAND" writes "The lans of Estirbalbretane were leased to Richard Starke in 1376. William Stark was tenant in Castalstaris in1543, and in 1544 we have record of a sasine to Beatrix Sterk in Glasgow. James Stark was heir of John Stark in Auchinvolie, 1629. Burke says the family of Stark claims descent from Alexander Robertson of Strowan who died 1506/7. Tradition relates that Alexander, younger son of Paul Robertson, having taken part in the family feuds of the day (who at that time did not?), was found guilty of manslaughter and fled to the Lowlands where he acquire the lands of Ballindean, having changed his name to Stirk or Stark. General John Stark (1728-1822) of the American Revolution was son of Archibald Stark, born in Glasgow, 1677." Note that other references give the birth of Archibald as between 1693 and 1697. And for Richard, father of Archibald, as born in 1665 -- which would make him only 12 in 1677, thus the 1693 date is more likely correct. The foregoing is mostly tradition. For example, it is not proven that Archibald is the son of Richard.
